HENNA BROWS

Course info

You will learn the following:

Henna brows is a form of brow tinting that is used to not only stain the skin beneath the eyebrow but also the brow hair. The whole idea of this is to almost create the illusion of a brow, a shadow and fullness in the brow area filling in the brow where it is lacking denseness.

Henna brows last approximately 2-6 weeks, but it all depends on the skin type if you have dry skin henna brows will last longer than it would last on a client who has oily skin. The degree in differences in that of Henna brows and that of a regular brow tint is that tint only lasts for a minimum period where henna color can last and stains the skin for around 2 weeks on the skin (again depending on the skin type), and possibly 6 weeks on the brow hairs.

Henna brows training is hands-on, we will be with you every step of the way and will make sure you leave feeling 100% confident. The treatment can be priced between R200 - R380 depending on location.

Cost per Application.

The cost per application will work out to roughly R15,00 excluding disposable products such as cotton pads, micro-brushes, sponge-tip brushes etc.

Procedures per Kit

The Henna product kit is designed to perform approximately 200 full treatments. Cost per kit: (R3,000 ex vat). Based on a charging price of R250 per treatment, the projected profit on a full Henna kit is R47,000.
